Why book Renee?

Renee has worked with notable stations as a sports reporter and anchor, such as ESPN, ABC, Fox Sports, MSG Networks, PHLI Sports, NBC Sports and more. She has range, versatility, and a captivating personality that have developed through work with teams and leagues, including the NWSL, MLB, NFL, NBA, MLS and WNBA, and others.

As a former three time All-American D1 soccer player at LaSalle University, Renee was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 2022. Renee's journey through sports as a player, coach, and reporter has allowed her to learn through her own experiences and studies to inspire the various topics that she speaks on today.

With an undergraduate degree in public relations, a double minor in Spanish and psychology plus a masters degree from Lehigh University in Educational Leadership, Renee is working to strongly connect with any audience in an impactful way. Renee strives to use her experiences, platform, and knowledge to inspire others to think differently. Most importantly, aiming to provide a voice for the voiceless through her storytelling, reporting, and speaking.
